11. How do we ensure the safety of your data?

Service Provider has introduced and implemented the following information security procedures for the purposes of data protection:

We have a detailed information security code, business continuity code, document management code and incident management code regarding the safety of the data and information that we process, which is mandatory for all of our personnel, and which is known and practised by our staff.

We regularly coach and train our employees regarding data and information security requirements.

11.1. Data security in IT infrastructure

We store personal data on a rented server, in a cloud and on the hard drives of company computers; the access thereto is strictly controlled and only granted to a very restricted circle of personnel.

The data and documents stored in the document management system are being stored encrypted, access is only possible with a password and proper authorization. The data in the internal IT network also run encrypted. Data on the company mobile phones are stored on encrypted storage sites. Our local computers are encrypted, unlocking the local hard drive is only possible with a password. Access usernames and passwords are being stored in password safes or in another secure way.

Our servers are located in professional server parks, in strictly guarded server rooms, which are water-, and fire-proof, and also protected against intrusion.

Our IT systems are tested and monitored repeatedly and regularly from time to time, in order to ensure and maintain data- and IT safety.

Office workstations are password-protected, third-party storage devices are restricted and may only be used following approval.

Regular and continuous protection against malicious software is provided regarding all of the systems and system elements of the Service Provider.

During the planning and operation of programs, applications and tools, we address security functions separately and with emphasis.

When allocating authorisations to our IT systems, we pay close attention to the protection of data (e.g. passwords, authorisations, logs) affecting the safety of these systems.

We generate backups daily and store them for 6 days; weekly backups are stored for 4 weeks. Our servers are redundant, and full backups are generated. The backups may only be accessed by a restricted circle of personnel.

11.2. Data security in communication

Regarding electronically forwarded messages and files, we secure the integrity of data on both the controller's and the user's side, in order to comply with the requirement of safe data exchange. In order to avoid data loss and damage, we use failure detecting and correcting processes. We use the protection functions of an endpoint-endpoint level of authorization control, ensuring accountability and auditability on the network.

Our implemented security measures detect unauthorized modifications, embedding and repetitive broadcasting. We prevent data loss and damage by fault detecting and correcting processes and we ensure the prevention of deniability.

Regarding the network used for data transmission, we provide appropriate measures to prevent illegal connection and eavesdropping per an adequate security level.

11.3. Data security in document management

We comply with data security requirements in document management as well, which we stipulated in our document management code. We manage documents by pre-set written access authorization levels, based on the level of confidentiality regarding the documents. We follow strict and detailed rules regarding the destruction of documents, their storage and handling at all times.

11.4. Physical data security

In order to provide physical data security, we ensure that our doors and windows can be properly closed and locked, and we keep strict access control regarding our visitors at all times.

We store paper documents containing personal data in a closed locker that is fire- and theft-proof, and to which only a limited circle of personnel has access.

The rooms where storage devices are placed have been designed to provide adequate protection against unauthorised access and breaking and entering, as well as fire and environmental damage. The storage of data transit, backups and archives is done in reliably closed locations.

12. What procedure do we follow upon an incident?

According to the relevant and applicable law, we report incidents to the supervisory authority within 72 hours of having become aware of it, and we also keep record of them. In cases regulated by the relevant and applicable law, we also inform the subjects of the incidents, and we act according to our incident management code.

13. When and how do we amend this notice?
